

Product Recall

Buzzy Strawberry Mini Grow Kit

Tui Products Ltd is initiating a recall of 'Strawberry Mini Grow Kits' (see pictured). There is a low risk these strawberry seeds may contain plant diseases that could affect some New Zealand crops.

The seeds or any resulting plants or fruit do not pose any human health risk – this is purely a potential plant health issue.

Strawberry Mini Grow Kits (barcode 8711117882411) relate only to the 'Buzzy' brand and were sold through The Warehouse Stores between 1st September 2011 and 12th November 2011. No other strawberry products are affected.

- Where seeds have been planted, the container or any resulting plants that have grown should be removed, tied off in a plastic bag, then again in a second plastic bag and disposed of within regular household rubbish. Do not compost or discard with green waste. Customers can supply either empty packaging or their receipt as proof of purchase at any of The Warehouse stores.
- For unplanted kits customers can return the kit to any of The Warehouse stores, providing a receipt where possible to assist in the processing of a refund.

Tui Products Ltd apologises for any inconvenience caused by this recall.
