Important Safety Instructions

READ CAREFULLY: SURFACE PREPARATION.

NOTE: Your furniture has already been factory treated with an oil preservative, however you MUST after unpacking and assembly of your furniture, thoroughly wipe clean your furniture removing any dust particles, then lightly re oil the furniture and let dry. Immediate Oiling of your furniture is crucial to the longevity of your furniture.

STEP 1 . IMPORTANT. After oiling wipe off excess oil, then allow the oil to dry for (4) hours, and then wipe off again with a clean rag removing any excess oil that may not have penetrated into the timber. Repeat wiping off excess oil if necessary.

Your furniture is now protected however repeat applications of the hardwood timber oil may be required. Before re- oiling check your furniture for any residue build up, if this occurs a light sanding may be required.

Note: The frequency of oiling will vary according to the climatic conditions in your area and direct exposure to the elements your furniture is subjected too. We recommend Karri Gum timber needs to be oiled a minimum of (3) three times a year.

NOTE: If KARRI GUM furniture is neglected with prolonged unprotected exposure to the elements this will cause the timber to discolor to a silvery grey, checking and hairline cracks may appear if in the event your setting does discolor to restore the timber, sanding and oiling will be required.

We recommend the furniture be stored with undercover protection during wintertime and wet season.

NOTE: ALL TIMBER FURNITURE GOES THROUGH A SETTLING IN PERIOD, FASTENERS MUST BE TIGHTENED REGULARLY. DO NOT LEAVE FASTENERS UNTIGHTENED THIS COULD CAUSE FURNITURE DAMAGE.

Important Safety Instructions

KARRI GUM timber is kiln dried under strict guidelines. Upon purchasing your furniture small hairline cracks may appear, this is part of the drying process of this particular timber species, these cracks will not deter the durability of the furniture, 3% shrinkage may occur in this species of timber.

Eucalyptus timber is kiln dried under strict guidelines. After purchasing your furniture, small hairline cracks may appear. This is a normal part of the drying process of this particular timber species. These cracks will not affect the durability of the furniture. 3% shrinkage may occur in this species of timber.

WARNING: Staining on Tuscan or light coloured pavers may occur from sap leeching and dust particles if the timber is not cleaned properly and weathered correctly, hose down your furniture and clean thoroughly before placing your furniture on light coloured pavers.
